

Comparison of the Czech Republic reserve and resource classification with the United Nations international framework classification for reserves/resources (UNFC) and the reserve and resource classifications of the Council of Mining and Metallurgical Industries (CMMI)
[1]

Code of the UNFC category	Proposed designation of the UNFC category	CMMI category	Czech categories	Czech categories in English wording	Czech categories in Czech wording
111	Proved Mineral Reserve	Proved Mineral Reserve	explored economic reserves	prospected economic reserves	vyhledané bilanční zásoby
121 + 122	Probable Mineral Reserve	Probable Mineral Reserve	explored + prospected economic reserves	explored economic reserves	prozkoumané bilanční zásoby
211	Feasibility Mineral Resource	Measured Mineral Resource	explored potentially economic reserves	prospected potentially economic reserves	vyhledané nebilanční zásoby
221 + 222	Prefeasibility Mineral Resource	Indicated Mineral Resource	explored + prospected potentially economic reserves	explored potentially economic reserves	prozkoumané nebilanční zásoby
331	Measured Mineral Resource	Measured Mineral Resource	prospected potentially economic reserves + related part P (R)	prospected reserves	vyhledané zásoby
332	Indicated Mineral Resource	Indicated Mineral Resource	explored potentially economic reserves	explored reserves	prozkoumané zásoby
333	Inferred Mineral Resource	Inferred Mineral Resource	prospected potentially economic reserves + part P (R)	economic reserves	bilanční zásoby
334	Reconnaissance Mineral Resource	not available	parts P (R)+Q	potentially economic reserves	nebilanční zásoby
				exploitable (recoverable) reserves	vytěžitelné zásoby

[1] United Nations international framework classification for reserves/resources – solid fuels and mineral commodities.-United Nations Economic and Social Council, Economic Commission for Europe, Committee on Sustainable Energy, 1997. Geneva.